How it Works

Types of Reimbursement

Active Installment

Active installments are large reimbursements that have been set up to be paid off in smaller installments. Once the full balance is paid off (completely reimbursed to you), installments will stop.

Recurring Reimbursement

Recurring reimbursements are set up as automatic payments that occur on a specific cadence. The reimbursement is the same each time and must be cancelled in order to stop.

Priority

Our system prioritizes active installments over recurring reimbursements. This means your deposit will be applied to payoff active installments before recurring reimbursements.
